

How to become an EACTP Fellow

Members are being reminded of the process by which they can be upgraded to Fellows. The membership category of Fellows was created to recognise those senior members of the profession, who are known as leaders in the turnaround field, who have already been admitted to membership.

The number of Fellows is restricted and admission to this category of membership is at the discretion and invitation of the Standards and Admissions Committee (SAC).

Ian Gray, Chair of the SAC, said any nominations for Members to become Fellows would be considered by the committee.

"If names are put forward either by the Member themselves, or ideally if they are recommended by another, we will consider them for Fellowship, but they would have to meet the criteria we have set, and all members of the SAC would have to agree."

Dr Lukas Fecker, President of TMA Europe, was admitted as a Member of EACTP in November 2014, and in early 2015 was invited by SAC to become a Fellow.

Dr Fecker, the founder and CEO of Innovation Brain, who has more than 20 years of turnaround experience and who has worked with leading financial institutions across the globe, said: "It was a great honour to be recognised in this way - I was delighted to take up the invitation to become an EACTP Fellow."